

Review Disney+ Disney

Disney + is the streaming platform of the powerful brand and includes its entire catalog of classics in which you will find series, movies, etc., as well as exclusive new content and premiere. It has a very low monthly cost that includes the connection in 4 different devices

Since Disney announced that it would have a new streaming platform, many doubts arose. Would it be the same as Netflix? What will it have in addition to its animated films? The answers to these questions and talking about the series that are in development will excite more than one Marvel and Star Wars fan.

Disney + will house the content of the extensive and historical catalog which includes all the classic Disney and Pixar animated films, as well as those of Marvel and Star Wars, but the latter only from episode 7. The rights to the first 6 parts of the saga The Mandalorian are in positions of multiple television channels that have acquired them and it will not be until 2024 that Disney will be able to claim them all.

You will also find exclusive audiovisual productions that will only be available through this platform. Although it was already known that this service would incorporate the main Disney brands, it has revealed that the content will have 5 centers within the service: Disney, Marvel, Star Wars, Pixar and National Geographic. Each center will serve as a micro-platform in the service with custom designs and features for each of the brands, all with the best intention of giving a fantastic experience to the fans.

A base of 500 films and 7,000 episodes in series has been confirmed, to which the new releases of the studio will be added, which will benefit from being exclusive to Disney +.

Only in 2019 the films that will have an exclusive presence on this platform will be Avengers 4, The Lion King, Aladdin, Toy Story 4, Frozen 2 and Star Wars episode 9, all of them productions with large budgets and a very good response from the public and critics. being even nominated for the Oscars and they have already announced the exclusive incorporation of Mulan for a premiere price.

Disney had already had his eyes on streaming for a long time, observing the change in trend that has occurred in recent years. While cable and satellite television lose subscribers, these types of subscribers are gaining, becoming the preferred option of users.

The price of Disney + is lower than that of Netflix and it launches a new exclusive production of series such as High School Musical that will have 10 chapters and the long-awaited Mandalorian. Fans have long been waiting for the live action Star Wars series, a rock one prequel and starring Diego Luna, who will reprise his role as a rebel spy. This series will follow the rebel spy working as an intelligence agent prior to the events of the film during the early years of the rebel alliance.

It has been described as an exciting spy series that will explore stories full of espionage and suspense with daring missions to restore hope in the clutches of a ruthless empire and the intervention of Baby Yoda has been one of the great discoveries of the Walt Disney factory. .

To be able to use Disney + on your devices, the first thing you have to do is hire one of their services, you just have to enter their website, register and select a payment method. The price of this platform is € 6.99 per month or if you want to pay it annually, € 69.99, with a free trial period of one week.

The application is completely free, you can download it for free on the main platforms, Google Play Store and App Store, compatible with Android and iOS devices. You can see your Disney + account on up to four different devices, sharing it with three other people if you want. You will also have the possibility to download your favorite content and view it at another time when you do not have an Internet connection.

The interface is very intuitive, install it on your mobile device and log into your account, you can customize your profile with one of the mythical characters of the factory, it can be Stich or Donald Duck. Once inside, we will find different tabs with everything we can find in the application, such as home, search, my list or a more specific categorization that differentiates between movies and series.

You can choose content and add it to your own personalized lists, this is done by clicking on see later within each of the titles that we want, in this way we will have it located quickly and we can see it without having to download it locally.

In Originals, as its name suggests, you will find all the own productions that Disney has made, for now what we find are mostly classics, but they have already said that little by little they will be making more new content.

All the elements that make up the Disney + application are customizable, we can change the language of the audios and subtitles, but the latter in a very detailed way, choosing the font, size or even color.
