ESPN Inc

ESPN puts the entire world of sports on mobile devices. With it you will be able to see more than 5,000 live competitions, consult its historical database, see all its videos and have all the information of your favorite teams, being able to customize it and create your own competition lists

You can now have all the sport on your mobile device, so you don't miss anything and you can take it wherever you want. This is possible thanks to the new ESPN application, which brings all the world competitions closer to its users. This app collects all the company's programming in one place, including its other channels such as ESPN2 and ESPN +.

To start using it, you just have to enter your virtual store, Google Play Store or App Store, and download this app for free for Android and iOS devices, including some Apple Watch. It's that easy, in its installation you will have to follow some simple steps and you will be able to use it.

Once you have it on your phone, you will have to configure it and choose the country from which you are using it, in this way it will be easier for you to be up to date and find all the information and competitions that interest you in your region. If you still want to do it even faster, you can create your own list of favorite sports, with which we discard all those that do not interest you and do not want to see.

Once you have selected your area, it is advisable to filter lists of leagues, events and sports that you have marked as favorites, since the number of competitions that are in their database and thus you can live a totally personalized experience according to your own criteria. You can even create alerts so that all those important events that occur on your favorite teams reach your devices.

With a very simple design, ESPN's free application has an interface similar to that of its website to help its users manage both platforms well and have no problems finding what they are looking for due to the indistinct use of One or another. By creating a profile, you can use it both in its version and mobile and it will be unique, with the personal information in both, with all its available settings.

Download ESPN for free, this will allow you to see all the videos they have, be informed of everything that happens in the world of sport, both locally and internationally and consult the results of the most important leagues. You will also find live football from the main leagues, among which are all of South America, the Spanish League, Serie A, the Premier League, the Bundesliga, the UEFA Champions League, etc. But you also have the NBA, tennis competitions, baseball, rugby and many more available.

With its online proposal, they bring together more than 6,500 live sporting events, being the sports application with the most complete programming, allowing you to choose between multiple matches to watch simultaneously. The app is completely free and to start enjoying it you will only have to be a customer of one of their cable television systems. The price to contract this sports streaming service is $ 5.99 per month.

ESPN has become the leader when it comes to talking about sports, a multinational channel that is part of the company that is owned by The Walt Disney Company and Hearst Communications. Founded in 1979, it is headquartered in Connecticut, and operates in more than 86 million homes in the United States alone. Its worldwide expansion took place rapidly, reaching Latin America in 1989 and becoming the sports channel with the highest audience, becoming a leader in terms of coverage of sporting events.

What you have to be clear about is that we are not talking about ESPN as the normal channel, this application comes to complement this channel and you may find that there is programming that does not include it. The app is divided into four: live sports, which will include the matches of professional categories and thousands of university sporting events, original, where you will find the series produced by the channel itself on different sports and important personalities of this world, shows, with all the videos and news that have occurred and library, with access to the entire historical database of ESPN.

Dare to live the sport in a totally new way, download ESPN and watch live competitions, wherever and whenever you want, breaking the limits established until now and enjoying your favorite team and always taking it with you.
