Undoubtedly one of the most important aspects in people's lives is safety. The protection of our neighbors, loved ones, family and our own. The place where we live is essential to be safe. Not feeling threatened or intimidated by the possibility that someone will enter our home or disturb us without prior notice. Many times we are inside the house and the doorbell rings and we do not know if it is a threat, someone we expect or not.

Among many aspects that technology has improved is security. What began many years ago with the development of alarms, video surveillance cameras and other devices, has evolved in recent times with the development of applications for mobile phones that can help us improve the security and functionality in general of our home .

We are going to tell you everything you need to know about one of the latest most popular security applications on the market, one of the most used and most widely recognized by users. We mean Ring.

Below we will give you all the details of the Ring app and your device. Everything you have to keep in mind about this program that you can download from the digital stores of mobiles that have Android and iOS operating systems. Ring was born from an idea by Jamie Siminoff. As he narrates on the official site of this new generation alarm, his intention was to achieve a change in the operation and performance of traditional doormen and doorbells. Siminoff's concern was to see how to apply new technologies to an object as traditional and present in all homes as the doorman.

In this way one of the most useful products of today arises. Using Ring will allow you to control who walks to your door at any time wherever you are. This is possible thanks to the fact that the device that is installed in the front of your home has a high-quality camera to broadcast the images on your device. Not only that, but you can also respond live as if you were inside your home. Whether you are inside it or not.

With this option that Siminoff creation offers you, you will be able to perform various actions that benefit your life and your safety. First of all, you will not miss any visit, whether it is from a relative, friend or if the postman has to bring you a package that you are waiting for. But at the same time, if a thief wants to know if someone is inside the establishment or not, you will have the opportunity to make him believe that you are indeed there. Thieves often target vacant houses.

In case you want to see what happens in the front yard of your home, you can access the camera at any time, even at night. Ring has sophisticated options such as the alternative to activate the app in case there is movement in a specific sector. That is, the amplitude of the camera is divided by zones and you can receive notifications if an action is detected in one portion of the territory or another.

The company offers a variety of products that can be combined with each other. These include an in-home camera and alert system. These objects are very useful for families with young children.

Ring offers three types of subscriptions. You can get a membership at no additional cost, the "Basic" for $ 3 per month or the "Plus" for $ 10 per month. The difference between these plans ranges from different options such as the ability to record and share videos, take images, extend warranties, and more. However, it should be noted that only by buying Ring do you have access to many benefits such as a two-year warranty, movement notifications, protection against theft, cancellations whenever you want and broadcasting live images.

Give Ring a try and learn about one of the latest and greatest security products. This time technology is put at the service of citizens and helps us feel more secure.
