With Stream TV you can create a list of channels and synchronize them with your Apple brand devices. With the import of your favorite programs and their file in iCloud you will get the easiest way to watch television on all your devices, having up to 5 channels available in their free version

Applications to watch videos online are the order of the day, that's why the offer is so great. It is clear that there are some that are more popular than the others and that makes them the great all-powerful streaming platforms, but having more users does not mean that you have all the content that is available, or that it is the best quality. There are others that, although they are not so well known, they are a clear competition that should be taken into account. This is the case of Stream TV, which does not stop updating and you can download for free.

Unlike others of this type, you will not find yourself surrounded by ads that will bother you when browsing or choosing what you want to see and you can access it from anywhere. Download Stream TV free, you find it available for all Apple brand products.

With Stream TV you will enjoy all your favorite television programs, movies and series, through any mobile device, and with the convenience of being able to choose the time and place. It has a free version and a premium version, with which you will also have many advantages when importing channels, in the first you can only add up to a limit of 5, while in the cost one you do not have any type of limit, in addition to remove all advertising.

To purchase the paid version you will only have to install its specific application and all the channels will be imported automatically, its price is $ 8.99 and you will only have to pay it once, it is not a monthly expense like other platforms.

To start enjoying it, the first thing you will have to do is install it on your iOS device from its virtual store, App Store. Once you have it, you will have to import all those channels that you want to add to your playlist. To do this you have two options, either use the app as an email or enter them directly from a link.

All these channels that you have included will be automatically synchronized with your iCloud account, so you will not have to be aware of them and in this way you will have them available on all your devices, not only in the one you have downloaded. It's that easy, you will already have them available and you will only have to relax and watch your favorite programs.

One of the most important advantages that you will find with Stream TV is the ease of use, you will find a very simple interface in which the main thing is the comfort of the user when using it. It doesn't have a lot of advanced settings and customization is non-existent, which makes navigating its menu very fast. This design uses the native elements of the Apple operating system, which makes the user familiar with its appearance and this improves the usability of the application.

The import can be done from different channels, such as an email or Dropbox, among others. The management of this list is minimalist, so you will have full control of them. Its updates are continuous to improve the application and it supports the most used video formats, such as mkv, mpv, mp4 and many more.

Download Stream TV, an intelligent platform that will allow you to watch your favorite television no matter where you are. There are many possibilities that it offers you and thanks to the connection between all the brand's devices, you will not lose anything you are watching and you will be able to change from one to another without any problem.

It bases its operation on sliding on the screen, so changing what you are selling will be very simple. But be careful with the Siri remote control, these changes are not as effective, so it may be that what it shows you is not what you wanted

You will also have the possibility of marking your favorite programs or channels to find them more easily and your list can be modified as many times as you want, always respecting the limit in the free version of up to a certain number of them.
