

Review Helix Jump

Voodoo

Helix Jump is one of the games of the moment, thanks to the fun it offers in large doses, but above all for its enormous simplicity that makes it suitable for any player. You have to control the tower and in this indirect way give direction to the ball and you must also avoid the colored parts of the environment

On more than a few occasions, we can see among the top positions in the download lists of new games that burst with great force, despite the fact that, for example, their graphics are not from another world and even in some cases leave a lot to be desired. However, sometimes simplicity makes some games become authentic phenomena.

An example is Helix Jump, it has graphics that do not go beyond the just approved, it has become a real phenomenon of the masses, thanks to its simplicity, gameplay and fun that it offers in large doses to all who try it. It also has the great advantage that it is a game that can be downloaded completely free of charge.

A ball is the great protagonist of this game, where we will have to descend levels at full speed, pulling skill, patience in some cases and especially very fast movements so as not to reach the end of the game prematurely.

Keep in mind that not everything is as it seems, and that lowering levels too quickly will only end the game prematurely. In addition, the colors are not a pure coincidence, but we will let you discover for yourself.

Despite what it may seem at first, Helix Jump is not a simple game at all and it can become, in a very short time, a real headache for most players. Maybe it does not have a story behind it, or some graphics that will leave you speechless, but without a doubt if you download it you can have a huge dose of fun.

Have you already tried Helix Jump on your mobile device and managed to overcome levels one after another?

The game launched around February 2018, after a very short period of time, it has been pressured and has remained at the top overall for a long time. The good thing is that Apple has not really introduced it if you have been following VOODOO, they actually do not have many of their games presented by Apple, they only know how to promote games.

This game remained at the top of the charts for a long time. Everyone knows that it is not difficult to reach the top of the charts, the difficult thing is to stay there. You can spend a large amount of money to take any game to the top spot.

But let's take a look at the game in the puzzle game where we rotate. You should avoid pieces that are not colored in black such as red, for example. If your ball is yellow every time it hits the black ground, it will mark the black surface and bounce, so you will have to pass heat through the openings at each level (deck) down the spine. If you land in the red part, you will die. So the key is not to die and go to the bottom. The lower level will be colored yellow on the first level.

If you die, you will probably have to watch a video and then you will have a second chance, so don't worry about it. In the following levels you will change the colors of the ball and the pieces of the surface. Between the levels, you will see some announcements, but they will not appear when you play. Perhaps the success of this game comes from the fact that it is very casual for one, so anyone can pick it up and start playing it. He understands that you really understand it and secondly the fact that it is more of a puzzle game, as well as some of the mechanics that it has makes it more interesting and that is why it has really been able to retain its users because and stay on the charts.

The game really combines the elements of a very casual game with also a puzzle piece element. That's because each level you achieve saw the next level where things feel a little different and add different elements to it. And you are one of these puzzle game lovers who has this high retention.

If you play the other type of VODOO games like Blumper.io, it is very casual, it is very easy, there is no real puzzle, it may become obsolete after a while, while Helix Jump constantly stays within the top 20 of general application startup lists.
